TAKE NOTICE,

THAT I am to be sold on such terms, that the purchaser need not advance any cash, unless he pleases, till it is earned by my services, provided no accident happens me; or, if you please, I am to be farmed out for two years, and not less. I am a bright bay, full 15½ hands high, of noble descent, my name is TRIMMER—I was got by Hall's imported horse Eclipse, my dam, purchased by Doctor Hall, was got by the imported horse Slim; my grand dam was got by Old Figure—my great grand dam by Taskers Othello out of Selima, &c. &c. as will more fully appear by William Lyle's attested certificate who raised me. My character as a racer is well established; I won the colt's purse at Bladensburg of twenty guineas; I won a fifty guinea purse at Baltimore, a fifty guinea purse at Annapolis and a fifty guinea purse at Hagerstown. I never lost a race but the last I run at Alexandria, which was owning to my being badly shod, as I lost all my plates before I got in. I am in fine plight, sound in every respect; my offspring are in great repute, some of which are now in training for the turf—procure me good stands and entertainment and I am able to earn one thousand dollars per annum.

Any person inclining to buy or rent may know the terms by applying to John Carnan (Lovehall) Cœcil county and state of Maryland, eight miles south of Elkton.

Foreign Intelligence.

LONDON.

While we justly extol our late naval victories as the most brilliant in point of NATIONAL GLORY, we ought to view them as substantially conferring NATIONAL SAFETY. Possessed, as we now are, of the empire of every navigable sea—commanding the commerce of the world—the naval power of the enemy so crippled that its wretched remains can creep out only by stealth—we have every advantage to expect, and nothing to fear. The phantom of Invasion no longer able even to disturb timid or weak minds, every individual throughout the kingdom, whether Land Proprietor, Merchant, Manufacturer, Trader, &c. &c. proudly feels that solid security is established on the most firm base, by the irresistible prowess of our arms.

But they whose property is more immediately benefited by our late decisive victories, are the Holders of Stock; as the Funds, so liable to depression from the very shadow of danger, may now be considered, in point of substantial security, fully equal to that of landed property. It must seem strange, then, to the bulk of the public, why the Funds have not experienced an elevation commensurate with an increase of national safety; more especially as there is now so great and rapid a demand for Stock wherewith to redeem the Land Tax. To all, however, conversant with the proceedings of the Alley, it can be no matter of surprize.

The fact is, that the still depression of the Funds is the mere creature of artifice. This is effected by Spurious Sales, Time-bargains; but chiefly by borrowing immense quantities of Stocks from Bankers, and pressing them on the Markets for sale. These matters are ostensibly transacted by Brokers; but their Principals are egregiously deceived in thinking they remain concealed under this cloak. Every man of importance is fully known in the Alley by his Representative the Broker.

It is in vain the directory employs every revolutionary means to conceal from foreign countries the impression which the glorious victory obtained by lord Nelson has made throughout France. The very means used to conceal it betrays the magnitude of that impression. On this occasion its iron sceptre has principally fallen on Journalists and on the liberty of the press; yet the anti-directorial spirit re-appears continually under variegated forms, in spite of the incessant attacks of the directorial party.

The Propagateur was suppressed for having published ship news, the truth of which proved offensive to the five tyrants; but it has appeared again under another title; the Nouvelles de Paris, also prohibited, for some ingenious allusions to the directorial despotism, was published the very next day after its prohibition, under the title of Courier of Paris, without the least alteration of the spirit in which it is written. The Journal des Francs, which the inviolability of the representatives of the people, Marynezy and Quedon, could not protect from the directorial doom, is continued under the title of Correspondence des Representans Steveniotte, Desaix, and Dethier, and it still breathes the spirit of its ancient authors, Antonelle and Garnier de Saintes, who, previous to the revolution of the 11th Fructidor, conducted it under the title of Journal des Hommes Libres.

By these Journals, as well as by private letters, and the arrival of persons from France, we learn that an universal discontent prevails throughout the Republic, not more on account of the wild expedition against Egypt, which has proved a deathblow to the French Navy, than from the order for a new levy of 200,000 men, and an extraordinary expense of 125.000,000 livres Tournois. These two measures cannot fail to produce universal discontent in a country drained both of men and money; and it is a certain fact, that this discontent has already broken out in very serious commotions, especially at Brussels and Ghent, where numbers of labouring people have demanded passports to withdraw into other countries, and where the gen d'Armerie is constantly on duty, to prevent and suppress riots and insurrections.

November 9.

It was generally expected that the late destruction of the French squadrons off the coasts of Egypt and Ireland, would produce a violent explosion in the interior of France, against the present rulers; or that the latter, to prevent this explosion, would break off the negociations at Rastadt, and make a sudden irruption both into Germany and Italy, to weaken, by some important success on the Continent, the impression naturally produced by their late misfortunes at sea.

That no explosion has taken place in the interior, is to be ascribed to a want of energy on the part of the malcontents, who have no rallying point to go to, or any foreign support to depend on. The French government has not broken off the negociations at Rastadt, probably from a dread lest some disastrous occurrence on the Continent should complete its own disrepute, and drive its enemies to despair. It is conscious, that the public opinion, to which it is in a great measure indebted for its successes, especially in Italy, is now turned against it, in consequence of the numberless vexations imposed on the people, whose hopes have been cruelly blasted, and who, instead of being delivered from oppression, have become the victims of the most shameful perfidy. The Directory is fearful lest the smallest check should produce a renewal of the Sicilian Vespers; and this fear must have been encreased by the enthusiastic joy displayed by all the powers on the Continent, on the occasion of the late victory obtained by Lord Nelson.

October 24.

The plan for the redemption of the Land Tax begins now to operate very perceptibly. Several considerable purchases have been made within these few days. This circumstance, added to the general favorable aspect of foreign affairs, has raised the funds. The Consuls were yesterday done at 53, and Omnium at 22 per cent premium.

Among other undertakings of public economy which at present direct the attention of Mr. Pitt, it is proposed to simplify the receipts of the customs, by bonding all goods imported; which will not only economize the expence of collection, but considerably diminish the amount of commercial capital required to carry on trade. At present the collection of the customs is after the rate of 6l. 7s. 5d. per centum, while the collection of the Excise is after the rate only of 4l. 8s. 10d. per centum; so it was for 1797.

The gross receipt of Customs in 1797, was	16,339,848	19	6¼
And yet the net produce was only	5,014,468	14	11¼

Above thirteen hundred thousand pounds being paid back in drawbacks and allowances, which have the double evil of increasing the expence of collection, and unnecessarily demanding an increase of capital in the merchant. Whereas, if all goods imported were allowed to be warehoused and bonded until they were wanted, we should add to the temptation of making England the emporium of the world.

The Play of Lovers' Vows, loses none of its attractions by repetition. The house was on Monday night crowded. In the Epilogue Munden, the poetical butler of the night, after his whimsical defence and praise of rhyme, and his concluding reference to Lord Nelson's victory,

——————Glorious news,
Nine ships of the line—just a ship for each Muse,

added, with an equally happy allusion to a more recent victory,

BALTIMORE, March 9.

OFFICIAL.

A gentleman bearing dispatches from captain TRUXTON to the Secretary of the Navy, arrived this morning in a pilot boat. We have been politely favoured with the following letter received by the same conveyance.

United States Frigate Constellation
Basseterre Roads. St. Christopher's,
16th February, 1799

My Dear Sir,

I enclose you a newspaper that gives a very accurate account of my capture of the Insurgente, French frigate, with this difference only, you must read 409 men as at foot, being her compliment instead of 360. I have not time to add: I wish you health and happiness, and am, with sincere esteem your obedient humble servant,

THOMAS TRUXTON.

P. S. The Insurgente, of 40 guns, viz.
24 cannon of 12 pounders.
4 do. of 36 do. brass.
2 do. of 24 do.
2 do. of 18 do.
8 do. of 6 do.

40 guns with 8 brass swivels.
Number of Men, viz.
52 officers sent to Guadaloupe 14th inst.
180 men in prison ship in Bassaterre roads, seven of whom slightly wounded.
100 put in goal at Basseterre.
34 wounded in hospital,
29 killed in action.
14 detained on board Constellation.

409 total on board when the action commenced,
Jeremiah Yellott, esq.

We have been favored by an obliging friend with the following letter from captain Truxton, dated

United States ship Constellation, Bassesaterre Road, St. Christopher's, 17th February, 1798.

"Before this can reach you, the capture of the Insurgente, French national frigate, of 40 guns and 409 men, taken by the arms of the United States (in sight of this island) on board the above ship, after an action of one hour and a quarter, will, no doubt, be known to you in Baltimore.

"In this, the first sea battle fought this war, between a government vessel of ours, and one of the enemy, I have a pleasure in saying, that my officers and men all behaved so well, that I cannot name to you one officer without doing an injustice to the rest. We had only one man killed and three wounded. The enemy had 29 men killed and 46 wounded. Both ships were much shattered in their masts, spars, rigging, &c. but the Constellation not near so much as the Insurgente.

"The captain of the Insurgente declared that my taking of him would be considered a declaration of war against France.* I told him if the capture of a national vessel was to be considered as a declaration of war, his taking of the Retaliation, which belonged to the United States, was certainly a declaration of war against us, on the part of France. However, be it war or be it peace, I told him I would certainly take every French frigate, and other French armed vessel I met with, if not overpowered, and of this determination I requested he would inform general Desforneaux.

"I have sent up a cartel to Guadaloupe, in hopes of exchanging the prisoners. If I can get men, I will have the Insurgente cruising with me by the 1st of March.

* That this fellow should affect surprise at being beaten and made prisoner, by an American, is not strange. He is, no doubt, like most of his countrymen, a piece of a philosopher, and having imbibed a belief that such a mongrel race could never assume resolution to take up arms, he still affects, with the true nonchalance of a Frenchman, even after he has been bravely fought, beaten, and taken, to wonder at such conduct, and to warn against the consequences. It was well observed by the great Pangloss, as he spat his last tooth out, in the hospital, "It does not become a Philosopher to change his opinions."

By the gentleman who brought captain Truxton's dispatches, we learn that the commander of Guadaloupe and his satellites, are violently enraged at the impudence of the Americans in capturing one of their frigates and the sinking a privateer; and were ready to tear the Americans to pieces who conveyed the Constellation's prisoners to that island. A few more such fraternal squeezes after their own example, may probably put them in a better humor.

The Insurgente is the frigate capt. Barney formerly had command of, and which made her escape off our capes from a strong British squadron; she is a fine new frigate, and reckoned the swiftest sailer in the French navy. Capt. Rogers, first lieutenant of the Constellation, we understand, is appointed by capt. Truxton to command her; and there is no doubt but that she is by this time at sea under American colors, as men from the American fleet at St. Kitts offered their services with the greatest alacrity and enthusiasm, to cruise against the enemies of their country.

A letter from on board the Montezuma, dated lat. 30, long. 63, February 20, '99, states that "Captain Barry, of the frigate United States, has been so fortunate as to reach a French privateer with his heavy metal, and sink her; and had just time enough to run along side and save 60 men, which he attempted to send ashore at Basseterre, Guadaloupe, by hoisting a flag of truce, but it being fired on, the benevolent design was given up."

Mr. Yeiser, who brought the dispatches from commodore Truxton, informs us that he left the American fleet from St. Kitts on the 18th ultimo, consisting of 40 sail, under convoy of the sloop of war Merrimac, capt. Brown, of 18 guns; among the fleet were the brig Dispatch, and brig———, captain Smith, for Baltimore.

The fleet were to pass St. Croix and St. Thomas's, for others to join.

This city was last night alarmed with the cry of fire, which, however, proved to be a chimney in Calvert street. Too much praise cannot be bestowed on the citizens, who appear to be ever ready, on the least appearance of this destructive enemy of society, to assist in its extinguishment.

The following Important Letter has just come to hand.

From a thorough knowledge of the character of the gentleman who writes this letter, of his caution in communicating political intelligence, and his practice of noticing no report in his letters, which has not been perfectly well authenticated, as well as from a review of the uniform correctness of all former information from the same source; —I am enabled to assert, that the following may be relied on as minutely true.

Extract of a letter from Lisbon to a respectable Mercantile House in this City, dated 5th January last.

"THE French have lately met a severe check in Italy.—The King of Naples, at the head of his army, has taken possession of the Pope's dominions, and every where beat the French army most severely. On the Neapolitans entering the city of Rome, General Mack, the commander in chief, summoned the castle of St. Angelo, which was still in possession of the French, to surrender, which they refused—He then sent them a message declaring that if they fired on the city that for every gun, he would deliver a Frenchman to the populace—This did not intimidate the French—they fired several guns; and general Mack, as good as his word, delivered as many Frenchmen to the mob, who murdered them in the most cruel manner—he then sent them another message relating what he had done, and what had happened to the poor Frenchmen, who had fallen victims to their folly, on which they ceased firing, and delivered up the castle. A few days after that, a severe engagement took place between 25,000 French, and about 35,000 Neapolitans, in which the latter were victorious—they took about 4000 prisoners, and killed in battle about 5000.

The loss of the Neapolitans was very trivial compared with that of the French. The son of the king of Naples was arrived with a division of the army of Civita Vecchia and had taken possession of that city and port. The Romans were every where flocking in great numbers to enter into the Neapolitan army. I have no doubt but the French will be more rapidly driven out of Italy than they entered it. Buonaparte, all accounts agree, was shot at a council of war, by an Egyptian soldier, and his whole army by this time destroyed—so much for that Expedition.

"Malta is also taken, and the Neapolitan flag hoisted on the fortifications. Minorca is also taken by the English, which is of great consequence to their Mediterranean fleet, as Port Mahon is very convenient and commodious for repairing their men of war and cruizers in those seas.

"This year will, in my opinion, be a year of the greatest events that have ever happened in Europe; and if the talked-of coalition takes place, which no doubt must for its own internal defence of the combined nations, I should not be surprised to see a king on the throne of France again, or Europe become one barbarous banditti.

The PRESIDENT of the United States left town yesterday, for his seat in Massachusetts.

One of the lieutenants of the Constellation, killed a fellow at his gun, for cowardice: It appears, by his name, that he was not an American.

By further private accounts from Northampton, we learn that the Insurrection gathers head there.

The Marshal, with a few mounted followers, sat off again on Monday for the scene of Insurrection, with a view of arresting some of the leading Rebels.

Several outrages have been recently committed upon the persons of the most respectable characters, by the Northampton rebels.

The rebellion, by all accounts, has nearly got to a sufficient height, to authorize the sending of Commissioners to treat with the rebels. As it is to be hoped, that government will never disgrace itself by compounding with treason, that good old man, Fouquier Tinville, our Governor, in reversion, presents himself as a fit character for a second mission of this nature; as no man can suppose that he would ever conclude a treaty by which the rebels must be compelled to lay down their arms.

It appears, through various mediums, that the government of Great Britain, has resolved, in no event to make peace with France, while remaining under her present forms. Indeed, this determination is necessarily involved by the actual state of that miserable country. In her present imperfect organization, she is utterly incapable of sustaining peace. Look at every power with which she has concluded treaties, and not one of them will be found at peace from her piracies or her intrigues.

When Collot d'Herbois was first employed by the managers of the Theatre, it was in the character of candle-snuffer, scene-shifter, and playbill monger.—If the report of the day be true that he has become manager for the purpose of suppressing our national songs and patriotic opinions, how grievously has the scene been shifted!

We are informed that the price for which Collot d'Herbois went into court, and attested his own mother's infidelity, was about double in amount the number of pieces received by Judas, for betraying our Saviour.

MR. FENNO,

AS an extract of a letter from the Havanna, dated January 1st, has appeared in your paper of this evening, you will oblige me by publishing the enclosed certificate, which I trust will shew, that no credit ought to be given to a letter from a Frenchman in the Havanna, to John B. Guinot, one of his countrymen, now in this city, wherein it is mentioned "that notwithstanding there was an American sloop of war (the Delaware I believe) off our island, several American vessels have been taken by two French privateers that are cruizing between this and the Mantanzes—The crew of the vessels have arrived here, and the vessels are sent to Guadaloupe, or in small ports round the island."

JAMES M'KNIGHT.

The subscribers, commanders of vessels lately arrived from the Havanna do certify that they were at that port from 27th December, to the 11th February, and that during that time no American prizes or prisoners were brought in.

BY THE PRESIDENT,

Of the UNITED STATES of AMERICA,

A Proclamation.

WHEREAS combinations to defeat the execution of the laws for the valuation of Lands and Dwelling-Houses within the United States, have existed in the counties of Northampton, Montgomery and Bucks, in the state of Pennsylvania, and have proceeded in a manner subversive of the just authority of the government, by misrepresentations to render the laws odious, by deterring the public officers of the United States to forbear the execution of their functions and by openly threatening their lives: And whereas, the endeavors of the well affected citizens as well as of the Executive officers to conciliate a compliance with those laws have failed of success, and certain persons in the county of Northampton aforesaid have been hardy enough to perpetrate certain acts which I am advised amount to treason, being overt acts of levying war against the United States, the said persons, exceeding one hundred in number, and armed and arrayed in warlike manner, having on the seventh day of this present month of March, proceeded to the house of Abraham Lovering, in the town of Bethlehem, and there compelled WILLIAM NICHOLS, marshal of the United States, and for the district of Pennsylvania, to desist from the execution of certain legal process in his hands to be executed, and having compelled him to discharge and set at liberty, certain persons whom he had arrested by virtue of criminal process, duly issued for offences against the United States, and having impeded and prevented the commissioner and the assessors appointed in conformity with the laws aforesaid, in the County of Northampton aforesaid, by threats of personal injury, from executing the said laws, vowing as the motives of these illegal and treasonable proceeding, an intention to prevent by force of arms, the execution of the said laws, and to withstand by open violence, the lawful authority of the government of the United States. AND WHEREAS by the Constitution and laws of the United States, I am authorised, whenever the laws of the United States shall be opposed, or the execution thereof obstructed in any state, by combinations too powerful to be suppressed by the ordinary course of judicial proceedings, or by the powers vested in the marshal, to call forth military force to suppress such combinations, and to cause the laws to be duly executed: And whereas it is in my judgment necessary to call forth military force in order to suppress the combinations aforesaid, and cause the laws aforesaid to be duly executed; and I have accordingly determined so to do under the solemn conviction that the essential interests of the United States demand it. WHEREFORE, I JOHN ADAMS, President of the United States, do hereby command all persons being insurgents as aforesaid, and all others whom it may concern, on or before Monday next, being the eighteenth day of this present month, to disperse and retire peaceably to their respective abodes: and I do moreover warn all persons whomsoever, against aiding, abetting or comforting the perpetrators of the aforesaid treasonable acts, and I do require all officers and others, good and faithful citizens according to their respective duties and the laws of the land to exert their utmost endeavors to prevent and suppress such dangerous and unlawful proceedings.

IN TESTIMONY whereof, I have caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed to these presents, and signed the same with my hand: Done at the City of Philadelphia, the twelfth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and ninety-nine, and of the Independence of the said United States of America the twenty-third.

TO THE

Promoters of Literature.

THE managers of the Beula Seminary, impelled by motives of pure morality, having resolved to dispose of the following property by way of LOTTERY, in order to assist them in erecting a convenient building for the accommodation of one hundred students, and the necessary professors in the different departments of science—do offer for sale three hundred and fifty lots in BEULA, each fifty-eight feet by one hundred and twenty-five, at twenty dollars per ticket, each ticket entitled to a lot to be determined by ballot; ten dollars to be paid on receipt of the ticket, and the remaining ten on the delivery of the deed. The ballot to take place before impartial men, as soon as the whole number of tickets are sold.

The managers, anticipating the difficulty of obtaining cash for the whole, have resolved to receive an equivalent, for some of the lots, in select books; philosophical apparatus, or in produce and materials for building, delivered on the spot.

It may be observed, that the value of prizes in this lottery will be more than double the amount of all the tickets; for 350 lots, would at their average estimation, produce at least 15,750 dollars; whilst, according to the present proposals, the sum obtained for them will be only 7,000 dollars.

Tickets may be had during this winter, of Morgan J. Rhees, president of the board of managers, no. 177, south Second-street, Philadelphia; who will receive proposals and plans for the erection of the building. It is intended to be of brick or stone; its situation on the summit of a gradual rising eminence, commanding an extensive prospect of the surrounding country; an observatory to be on its top.

Land and out lots in the vicinity of the Town may be had on moderate terms by applying as above. Mechanics and laborers, of good morals will meet with encouragement.

A HANDSOME

TWENTY miles due north from Philadelphia on the great post and stage road, leading from thence to Easton and Bethlehem. It is high, airy and beautiful, commanding an extensive prospect, especially on the south side;—together also, with any quantity of land contiguous, from 1 to 100 acres, arable, meadow and wood-land. On this land, about 50 poles distant, is a never-failing spring of pure water. At the spot, a well has been dug, but not finished: some collections of stones, boards and scantling for an house, were also made, a considerable time ago, and will be sold or not, at the option of the purchaser of the lot. Let tradesmen, whose business requires a public stand—let citizens, who wish a retreat for health, for pleasure, or repose, apply to the subscriber near the premises.
